

"HARRY IS FEELING FINE"Reports Lawyer Peabody After Visiting Him*"FIT FOR ANY EMERGENCY"*He Spent the Morning Today Writing Letters—His Wife Did Not Call Until Afternoon—Plans of the Defense.

New York, March 29.—The first of the Thaw refuse to appear at the Tombs today was Attorney Peabody. After visiting his client he announced, "Harry is feeling fine and I never saw him look more fit for any emergency."

It is said that Delmas is preparing to go on with the case Monday, so confident are all the Thaw lawyers that the commission's report will be in his favor. Thaw devoted the morning to writing letters. Evelyn did not visit her husband this morning, because, it was believed, she would not be permitted to do so on Good Friday. When informed of her error she sent word that she would call this afternoon. It has been intimated that if the trial is resumed the defense will rest the case sur-rebuttal immediately.

New York, March 29.—Harry K. Thaw for two hours yesterday submitted to a running fire of questions by the three men appointed by Justice Fitzgerald as a commission in lunacy to determine his present state of mind. The examination was not without its humorous side, and when shortly before five o'clock in the afternoon adjournment was taken until Saturday morning, no one connected with the hearing before the commissioners would discuss the details of the inquiry. Thaw went willingly and confidently before the commission and after two hours' secret session was over his attorneys appeared with smiling faces and declared they were more than satisfied with the course of the proceedings. District Attorney Jerome hurried away from the criminal courts building declining absolutely to discuss the commission's work.

The most important feature of the proceedings was the decision of the commission to limit the scope of its inquiry to the exact language of the statute—to determine solely the question whether or not Harry Thaw is able to understand the nature of the court proceedings against him and to advise his counsel rationally.

District Attorney Jerome informed the members of the commission that all of the legal experts he has employed in the case advised him that Thaw is suffering from a typical case of paranoia, a disease of the mind in which the recoveries are limited to two or three per cent. He offered to adduce testimony to support this statement, but the commission waived it aside, saying that the purpose of the inquiry was a very simple one and had to do not with a classification of mental diseases but with the prisoner's present state of mind as judged by laymen.

In laying down this principle, the commission confronted the district attorney with the very position he has maintained in pleading Thaw's insanity. Mr. Jerome contends that Thaw was suffering from paranoia on the night of June 25 when he killed Stanford White, but that paranoiacs often have knowledge of what they are doing and that Thaw knew the nature and quality of his act in shooting White and knew that the act was wrong. Thus, while medical experts may determine that Thaw is still suffering from paranoia, the question to which the lunacy commission has decided to confine itself deals solely with Thaw's knowledge as to the proceedings against him and his ability to advise his lawyers.

The commission began work with a rush yesterday afternoon and plunged at once into the personal examination of the defendant. District Attorney Jerome protested at first that he was not able to proceed, and he would like to have his medical advisers present during Thaw's examination. He finally said that he would have no objection to the examination going forward provided he was permitted to reserve cross examination. The commission forthwith settled the matter of the presence of experts by excluding them from the room with everyone else except the defendant and his counsel, the district attorney and Assistant District Attorney Garvan. As to the cross examination by the district attorney, the commission said that that matter would be taken up when it was reached.

It is said that during most of the two hours Thaw was before the commission the notes and letters which he had written to his counsel since the trial began, were under consideration.

Referring last night to the day's proceedings, Mr. Hartridge said: "Harry came out with flying colors. He remembered more about the case than I did. We are confident of the outcome."

It is understood that the commission proposes to make Thaw narrate the trial from its beginning, to test his memory of what has occurred in the trial.

It was said he was questioned today about the part he took in the selection of the jury.

FIRE AT NORTH TROY.Does Damages of $3,000 to Sounding Board Factory.

North Troy, March 29.—Fire Wednesday afternoon was discovered in the upper story of H. B. Parker & Sons' mill and piano sounding board factory in this village. Both fire companies responded, and, in fact, the whole community, but efforts to save the top story and practically all of the second story, were unavailing, and both were gutted. The fire was not under control until late in the afternoon. The dry kilns were well filled and there were quite a number of sounding boards in process of manufacture, all of which were burned. The loss will probably be in the vicinity of $3,000, partly covered by insurance.

BECAUSE OF INSANITY SHE IS NOT GUILTYJennie Burch Who Was Tried For Poisoning Child Will Be Committed to Asylum.

Carmel, N. Y., March 29.—Jennie Burch will go to Matterwan. The jury which since Monday has been trying the young girl for poisoning little Wilbur Winslip, late yesterday returned a verdict of "not guilty by reason of insanity," and Justice Miller at once ordered that she be committed to the asylum for the criminal insane.

The verdict came as she sat alone in the court room, and she broke down and wept bitterly. But Jennie by a great effort had ceased her tears, and was overjoyed for Mrs. Herbert Winslip, the mother of the baby to whom she gave the poisoned peach that she might die with the only person in the world she loved, went to the sheriff's rooms to say good bye to the girl. The bearded woman clasped the girl in her arms and kissed her and told her that she freely forgave her.

Herbert Winslip, the father of the poisoned baby, also told Jennie that he had forgiven her. He promised her that Roscoe the older child, should visit her at Matteawan. Both sides of the case are perfectly satisfied with the verdict.

CARDINAL MACCHI DIED OF APOPLEXYSecretary of Apostolic Briefs in Roman Catholic Church Died in Rome Today.

Rome, March 29.—Cardinal Luigi Macchi, secretary of Apostolic Briefs, died today of apoplexy.

HE NEVER GAMBLER.Andrew Carnegie Also Says The Millionaire Who Laughs is Rare.

New York, March 29.—Andrew Carnegie made a vigorous attack upon certain Wall street methods in a speech at a dinner tendered in his honor by the United States Military Telegraph corps, at the hotel Manhattan last night. Mr. Carnegie declared that he had never made a dollar gambling in stocks, and added that it was time that business men decided to recognize men who make money in Wall street and rendered no value for it.

"A few gamblers in Wall street are in trouble," said Mr. Carnegie. "If a man has sold stock short and they go down, he is delighted. But if they go the other way and he has not the stock to deliver, he thinks the president has gone a trifle too far. It is a good thing for the country that the gamblers come to grief. I wish I could invent a machine that would take both sides of the stock gamblers could come to grief. As a business man I can say I never made a dollar gambling in stocks. I would as soon sit down to gamble with cards or at bridge. The speculators are parasites feeding upon the honest man. We have had five years of wonderful prosperity. Today, instead of charging $400,000,000 for the Carnegie Steel company, I would ask $640,000,000."

"Gentlemen, I was born to poverty, but I would not change with the richest man in a system of the boy gets his teaching. I am honest. I have lived both lives. There are men who say that riches are corrupting, but they only know one side of the shield. I have lived both.

There is, gentlemen, very little in wealth in addition to the sun of human happiness. I think that wealth rather decreases happiness. As I said once before, a millionaire who laughs is rare."

ARRESTED IN LONDON.Fred L. Laraway, Who Formerly Lived in Morrisville.

Albany, N. Y., March 29.—Fred L. Laraway, formerly of Morrisville, Vt., was more recently a clerk in the city treasurer's office here, has been arrested in London, England, on the request of the Albany police, and will be brought back to this city to answer to charges of grand larceny and forgery in the second degree. Laraway was arraigned at the Bow street police court at London and remanded for one week, pending extradition proceedings. Laraway has relatives in London, and it is feared that lawyers already have been retained to fight the extradition.

The man is charged with having kept money entrusted to him by taxpayers, amounting in all to about $10,000, with having made false entries upon the city books, and with returning forged receipts to taxpayers who turned their money over to him.

DeFreest and Jacob Schuster were the sureties on Laraway's bond, which was more recently a clerk in the city treasurer's office here, has been arrested in London, England, on the request of the Albany police, and will be brought back to this city to answer to charges of grand larceny and forgery in the second degree.

DeFreest then engaged detective O'Connor to locate the man, and thus save his money. He and Schuster must pay the expenses of bringing the prisoner back to this country.

Laraway, it is said, is with relatives named Lee. Detective O'Connor called a description of the man to Scotland Yard. The district attorney saw Governor Hughes next day regarding extradition papers. Governor Hughes communicated with the department of state at Washington, which advised Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, who communicated with the British authorities. A prompt return of the prisoner is therefore expected.

Laraway traveled under assumed names, the initials of which, however, are the same as his own. He called himself Frank L. Lee. District Attorney Addington has stated that the case would be presented to the grand jury next week and that Laraway might be indicted on more than one charge, inasmuch as it is alleged that he took money belonging to more than one taxpayer.

Gov. Cobb Vetoes The Bill.

Augusta, Me., March 29.—Governor Cobb yesterday afternoon vetoed the bill repealing the Sturges law for the enforcement of the prohibitory law.

25 KILLED IN THIS WRECKBelieved to Have Been Due to Criminal Carelessness*TOURIST TRAIN DITCHED*All the Dead, However, Except Two, Were Workmen Going to San Francisco to Help Rebuild the City—Accident Yesterday.

Colton, Cal., March 29.—An investigation on the charges of criminal carelessness was instituted today as the result of a wreck yesterday afternoon of a tourist train on the South Pacific, in which 25 people were killed. The train was running at full speed and went into an open switch. The engine turned over and the forward cars were crushed and splintered. All the dead except one Italian woman are men, and all but two are Italian laborers en route from New Orleans to San Francisco to work on the reconstruction of the city. Several government employees were injured in the mail car. The engineer, who struck the post, was severely injured. The fireman is missing and may be buried under the wreckage.

The wrecked coaches were hurled in every direction and four were smashed to splinters. Eighteen corpses were brought to Colton last evening and seven additional bodies could be seen underneath one of the demolished cars. This car could not be reached until a derrick was brought from Los Angeles, 60 miles away.

The injured were carried to this city in vehicles of all sorts, and the Colton hospital was quickly filled to its capacity. Many were then taken to the Presbyterian church and to private residences.

George L. Sharp of Munich, Ind., was instantly killed. The baggage man of the train was also killed. Engineer Clarence E. Worthington and fireman Victor Crebb jumped, but were caught in the wreckage and terribly burned.

Out of about thirty Pullman passengers, only two sustained serious injuries. The three Pullman coaches and the diner, which were on the rear of the train, did not leave the track. The occupants of these cars were mostly unhurt.

The Florence Roberts theatrical company occupied one coach, which was hurled from the track. Both ends of it were crushed in by impact against the others. Two of the 25 members of the company were injured. Miss Roberts escaped unhurt. The escape of the occupants of this car was remarkable, considering the manner in which the coaches were splintered and torn. The men and women were hurled from one end of the car to the other.

LOCOMOTIVE BLEW UP.Engineer Missing and Three Other Men Badly Hurt.

Youngstown, O., March 29.—A locomotive attached to an ore train on the Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Ashtabula road, a branch of the Lake Shore line, exploded at Lakewood, thirty miles southwest of this place yesterday.

The engineer, H. E. Watson, of Mahoningtown, Pa., cannot be found, and it is supposed that he was blown to pieces. The fireman, F. E. Bancroft of Ashtabula, brakeman Curry of Mahoningtown and a tramp were badly hurt.

When the engine boiler blew up the locomotive and twelve cars of ore went down an embankment. The engine was demolished.

BLACK HAND LETTER.Cause of a Bloody Battle in a Lynn, Mass., Grocery Store.

Lynn, Mass., March 29.—As a result of a quarrel growing out of the receipt of a "Black Hand" letter, two Italian fought a bloody battle with knife and revolver in a grocery store on Pleasant street last night, and both men were arrested and locked up by the police on charges of assault, pending an investigation of the "Black Hand" mystery.

One of the men, Pietro d'Archangelo, a grocer, who has a store on Pleasant street, received a letter yesterday morning signed "Black Hand" and demanding that he pay $1,000 last night to a man with a grey cap who was to meet him at a certain point on the Boston road. d'Archangelo showed the letter to several of his compatriots, and when Fred Porcio, a cobbler, entered the grocery store last night, d'Archangelo accused him of being the author of the letter. A scuffle followed immediately, one of the men drawing a revolver while the other wielded a butcher knife, though neither was able to use his weapon effectively on account of the close quarters in which they fought. Just as the police arrived on the scene Porcio was knocked out by a blow on the head from a large chair, which Mrs. d'Archangelo threw at him.

THE DEER LAW.Will Be Tested in Vermont Supreme Court.

The case of State vs. Zouanti, who is charged with allowing his dog to run at large in the forests of Marshfield, which are inhabited by deer, moose and caribou, R. A. Hoar of Barre, counsel for the respondent, filed a demurrer in county court yesterday afternoon to the complaint on the ground that the law is unconstitutional and that the information was insufficient. Judge Miles overruled the demurrer and in order to get the opinion of the supreme court on this law, it was agreed that State's Attorney Charles and Mr. Hoar should submit to the court an agreed statement of facts. The court will then, pro forma, adjudge the respondent guilty and the case will go to the May term of supreme court.

A case similar to the one at bar was heard in Montpelier city court a few weeks ago and the respondent was discharged because it could not be proved that moose and caribou inhabited the forest in which the dog had been chasing deer. A similar case, that of State vs. Deneochi, also of Marshfield, which was brought at the instance of J. Burton Blue of Washington county and which was ready for trial yesterday afternoon, was continued until the constitutionality of the law in question is settled.

MARRIED AND PARTED ALL WITHIN AN HOURGroom Charged With Embezzlement Immediately After Ceremony Was Performed.

Burlington, March 29.—Within an hour of his marriage yesterday morning to Elaine D. Clarke, Henry R. Ward, aged 28 years, clerk and bookkeeper for Mason & Co., was arrested and placed in jail charged with embezzling $400 from his employers. The events culminating in Ward's downfall followed each other in rapid succession yesterday.

He was early at the city clerk's office to obtain the necessary marriage license. Next, with his bride-to-be, he hastened to the Methodist parsonage, where the marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. George W. Brown. Within an hour, Ward was in the toils of the law.

Previous matrimonial ventures of the bride have not been more fortunate. The license issued yesterday morning shows that she has been once divorced and the city records further show that last fall a license was granted for her marriage to one M. C. McGietrick. No return of such a marriage, however, was made to the clerk's office, and it is therefore supposed not to have occurred. She is 26 years of age.

It is understood that Ward's alleged delinquencies were made by "padding" his employers' payroll. It is not known how large the deficit is, and it is likely that an expert will be put to work on the books of the firm.

BOY SHOT HIMSELF.Put Charge Into His Arm But It Was a Mistake.

Burlington, March 29.—Alfred Grupa, a member of the senior class in the high school and son of Louis Grupa of Weston street, shot himself in the right arm with a shot gun on Wednesday while attempting to shoot at a mud hen, which had been causing a disturbance in the hen yard. After procuring the gun at the McVickar farm house young Grupa discovered that the hen had disappeared. He then placed the stock of the gun on the ground and in some manner the weapon was discharged, the shot entering the right arm just above the wrist and making a serious wound.

DIGGING FOR $1,000.T. K. Milne Expects to Unearth it in Burlington.

Burlington, March 29.—T. K. As $1,000 is not considered much nowadays after state fair subscriptions and Mr. Milne expects to collect that sum in a few days.

The officials of the New Hampshire League have written to Mr. Milne saying that the Vermont teams would be admitted without a doubt. The special meeting for considering that project has not yet been called.

All had their skulls crushed, having come in contact with a low bridge while stealing rides. A postal card found in the pocket of the injured man led to the belief that he was Joe Davock of Waltham. But when the man came to his senses he said that his name was Thomas Howe of Waltham. Kennison was married and lived at 17 Spruce street.

GORDON WILL NOT SERVEWas Appointed on the Barre License Board*NOTIFIES THE JUDGES*Applications for License Must Be Accompanied by Bonds Signed by the Residents of the City Under the Amended Law.
